If any are scandalized, that New-England, a place of as serious Piety, as any I can hear of, under Heaven, should be troubled so much with Witches ; I think, 'tis no wonder : Where will the Devil show most Malice, but where he is bated, and hateth most : And I hope, the Country will still deserve and answer the Charity so expressed by that Reverend Man of God.

John Adams Comes of Age

John Adams was one of America's greatest Patriots. Besides George Washington, Adams may have contributed more to get America its independence from England than anyone else. However, this Founding Father is not nearly as revered or well-known as the other "Big Six" of the Founding Fathers.

Corky Situation

ooOooOoh!ooOooOoh!
 That poor soul that pours,
 ooOooOoh!ooOooOoh!
 the wines and the whines,
 ooOooOoh!ooOooOoh!
 and the paints and the pains,
 ooOooOoh!ooOooOoh!

Chronic pain phenomenon due to long term movement mediated by subconscious action.

Action is predominantly controlled by the Conscious mind. The Conscious mind, in reference to the entire trinity that composes the mind, transduces external and internal action more directly to and from the mind. As opposed to the Subconscious or Unconscious mind, which require more analysis and inference to understand.

Simply put, perhaps I've endeavored into a new goal that requires more exercise. Through the Conscious mind, I begin a new workout routine. Likewise, the associated discomfort from the new routine is understood through the Conscious mind. With time and repetition the discomfort and effort required to execute said routine fuse into the Subconscious mind. The actions associated with the routine becomes a part of the Subconscious mind, potentially already part of the Unconscious mind, and now influences the Conscious mind passively. THIS IS TRUE FOR ALL ACTION THAT HAS BEEN IN REPETITION (especially in Sleep). In such case, the way an individual executes daily activities predetermines their longevity and health success through Subconscious manipulation.

There is a sector "black of magick" that is disguised and hidden in the teachings of The Doctrines.

"magick" is just hypermanipulation of anything. Using the term "magick" helps us feel better about ourselves because it adds a label suggestive that the question at hand is a difficult one. It reminds us that we're not imbeciles for not understanding the answer right away.

We all know or have heard that "magick" happens in the extremes; hypermanipulation happens in the extremes, literally in any extreme state of being. So long as something is produced from the person being at an extreme state of being, the Creator is consecrated Divine. Since extremity in itself is antagonistic to survival, He himself must have been hypermanipulated to Survive.

All that to say, "black of magick" "hypermanipulation of another" is well hidden within The Doctrines.

Once upon a time, the men and the women of the world grew incredibly weak. They were exhausted and their Spirits craved life. They were so exhausted that they feared their Standing against their Competitors, the Vital Youth. The men envied the Strength of the boys and the women envied the Beauty of the girls. What a pill! We are finite! When one cannot fulfill themselves they must steal fulfillment from the competitors. When one lacks ambition they must steal ambition from the competitors. When one lacks purpose they must steal purpose from the competitors. When one lacks discipline they must steal discipline from the competitors.

When the men and the women realized they could not control the life force of the Youth, they begged a god for a solution.

How can I force my children to submit to me?

How do I ensure my child is not physically stronger than me?

How do I ensure my child is not spiritually stronger than me?

How do I ensure my child is not mentally stronger than me?

How do I ensure my child is not financially stronger than me?

Then their pastors handed them a little black book. It read; You manipulate them physically while Children so that the energetic channels, specifically connected to the physically manipulated body parts, are obstructed during the energetic development of the body (strongest from ages 9-13) ; and their physical, mental, and spiritual being will suffer. Then, the parents convinced themselves that doing this would help ease the children into Spiritualism.

They taught the parents that breaking the baby's big toes eradicates promiscuity later in life because the hips tighten significantly and place irregular pressure on the pelvic and genital area. And the "toe crackers" taught the parents how to bend the feet and heads of the children during sleep to promote obedience.

It did not stop there...

In the little book that they call The Book of Life, the "toe crackers" effectively taught the parents How To mutilate and How To eradicate their creations.

When one begins the process of physically purifying their bodies— one begins to understand what is actually being purified.

Obviously, this can manifest accidentally by accidental physical traumas. Any person that begins to wear Toe Spacers (Samuel Carr, swholeanimal) will instantaneously recognize the connection between The Toes and The Jaw. As one begins to wear them regularly, one will feel the jaw tighten and the teeth straighten. It is critical to attempt to wear the Toe Spacers when sleeping; the discomfort is indicative of poor sleep posture and reveals the damage the body is being subjugated to. Quickly, one will realize that they don't wake up feeling like shit because they're "just moody" "joyless" "depressed" "just lazy"—the body is being destroyed while it thinks it's resting!

Embrace the light and thank the Devil—for your Child still lives and seeks for you nought!

As a Child I became interested in Scorpions when I visited a family Farm

My grandparents kept jars of Scorpions in Alcohol

My aunt worked at a school and every time her school received a package they had Scorpion protocols as they were known for latching

They also kept many jars of Scorpions in Alcohol at the school

They said that the only way to beat the poison of a Scorpion Sting was to capture the Scorpion that bit you, submerge it in alcohol (I don't remember the time), then, rub the alcohol mixture over the Scorpion bite (in color, the mixture is light brown with a faint hue of red/yellow).

Obviously, the first thought, well, what happens if I can not capture the Scorpion that bit me? Somehow they are able to estimate how old the Scorpion is by counting the tail scales. If someone is bit by a Scorpion and is in an emergency situation, or, if they fail to capture the biter, they apply the alcohol mixture of a Scorpion with tails scales corresponding to the biter.

Innerminable Inter dimensional travel

I been smoking too much. I've got t'bacca heart.
F. Scott Fitzgerald, This Side of Paradise

All these soft, warm nights going to waste when I ought to be lying in your arms under the moon—the dearest arms in all the world—darling arms that I love so to feel around me—How much longer—before they'll be there to stay? When I do get home again, you'll certainly have a most awful time ever moving me one inch from you...I love you so, and I'm so lonesome—
Zelda Fitzgerald, Dear Scott, Dearest Zelda, Correspondence of F. Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald

Inter dimensional travel seems to be synonymous to Dream divination.

In which case, although dangerous, mastering sleep deprivation can allow for Inter dimensional travel and Dream divination to “feel real”. Sleep deprivation, in a sense, allows for visual manifestation of the Conscious and the Unconscious mind.

It is possible to transfuse Dreams per the Unconscious mind.

The transfer, or acquirement of Dreams, or fragments of the Unconscious mind, from The Past unto The Present is strongest per compatibility. A child or relative, with a relatively similar Unconscious blueprint in The Present would better receive a signal from The Past. If a person in The Present is attempting to acquire a Dream transfusion from someone in The Past, it is an advantage to find some location where the person has been present physically.

Vortexes or energetic holes can be “seen” but it does not seem possible to transfer physical material—only energy. Vortexes have specific locations connected to them. Parallel events must have connected them. Even if you feel your body travel through the vortex, which is possible, you know you are physically connected to The Present. How physical time travel then? Reincarnation wouldn't be time travel. Getting a flash back would be the constant feeling but what needs to be discerned is whether the physical body physically traveled—spiritual exhaustion can affect the physical body in which case there is a threshold that is crossed during mental travel where mental exhaustion and amassed thinking speed deteriorates the physical body. The physical body approaches death and it may feel like physical time travel is affecting the body but the body is still in the present in which case it did not move.

It does not seem possible to physically travel back and forth through time. It is possible to replicate The Past in The Present and therefore manipulate the past the present or the future. Dream divination allows for accessing information past present or future . The dimensions in question need to be built in the mind, mediated by the Conscious mind, so that in sleep, the Unconscious mind can roam “accurately” . It is possible to access the mind of others using intuition to determine what dimension or Unconscious map they are on. Why this works on the deceased makes you question if it is a mental replication or an energetic connection in which case where does the energetic connection from the deceased store its information?

Is it possible to physically pass without leaving the Conscious mind? Does leaving the Conscious mind equate to being dead? Does the Unconscious mind pass the spirit? Spirit equates to energy that must be transferred? Energy or spirit transfer per unconscious mind sent to who and based on what? Energetic compatibility? Mind control ? Someone connected to the conscious or unconscious mind of the person? What “stores” the info once conscious mind is out and vessel dead?

Strong intuition, the Feeling of becoming like the original, or the past in the present, allows for accurate replication and manifestation ? No longer inter dimensional?

Creepy Crawling

Any individual who serves as a conduit of energy will leave energetic ripples in the universe. It should be assumed therefore that an individual who is absent in the ability to serve as a conduit of energy might have a higher sensitivity in its detection. In which case, energetic ripples can be detected and tracked. It is not to be ignored that many have suffered from obsession and stalking until death at the hands of bitter lovers left to past.

If sweets tasted as bitter as lovers left to past can be—how easily we’d be thin!

“Bitter lovers” are consequences that anchor us to the past. I think of the fate of Richard Real. His final notes are haunting. There is a specific feeling that arises when one feels that their Divine operations are being “tracked”. It is spiritual rape and molestation. The term CREEPY CRAWLING seems fitting. One must dig deeper and remove the “seed”.

Spiritual stalking, or physical stalking on steroids, can occur when the stalker becomes so obsessed with the stalkee that they manifest the stalkee’s world within their mind and make accurate guesses as to what the stalkee will do or desires, in which case, they interject and cause chaos.

That feeling of never being completely alone despite strong efforts— that sense of paranoia and imminent threat— CREEPY CRAWLING!

Genius Endurance

Endurance, as a concept, or symbol, of say, works antagonistically to Genius (physical endurance is a form of Genius). It is the pressure of time itself that forces the Genius to expel its Creation. Once the Genius begins to endure time, his inclination for Wisdom takes precedence over manifesting his Genius. He must Create his own sense of pressure that survives indifferently to time—and use this pressure to expel his Creations.

Age equates to Wisdom because of survival endurance. One evolves societally, or acquires Wisdom, and the Peace that one acquires through this endeavor, leaves a space for Spiritualism to potentially take precedence over Wisdom.

Taming ones Libido, a precursor to Wisdom, often occurs with late age. Unfortunately, most people cannot tame, or domesticate, they “just killeth”. Bye Bye Potential! Rather than domesticating their Libidos they domesticate themselves. This concept goes so deep into The Doctrines I suspect that this was, and is, the catalyst to segregating into congregations—who can simp out the women the best by making them perceive The Indoctrinators as gods. Womp Womp Womp! When the Libido is no more there is no more Creation...literally

Many women possess an “innate” inclination to bear children. It is a distorted manifestation of Satanism disguised as Godliness, despite being a practice that is pushed forward by The Doctrines, allegedly backed by their gods. Anything that is “innate” eliminates the need to be sprouted by another’s force. How can a woman crave form and force without the influence of the force from the man that should father the seeds? It doesn’t make any sense because its nefarious. It doesn’t make any sense because it is not an “innate” quality at all, is it?—No, its not, it is a conditioned one. Ask yourselves, if a female should have an “innate” inclination to bear children, who is the male that provided the force for that mindset to form within the female’s mind, to begin with? The man bears the Force the woman bears the Form.

The woman gives away her Libido, her own life force, in a way, when she bears children. She sacrifices herself for the father of the children. Despite being joyous and “worth it” for many, the body still recognizes the burden to bear Lives. The body learns that Sex equates to Reproduction. Obviously, the Libido has to learn to be domesticated. The men, The Indoctrinators, enforce child bearing to eradicate the Libido of the women. The women are taught to connect their sexual energy to bearing children. They in turn place all their sexual energy into the children. When these children become adults, the mothers struggle deeply. They likely can no longer bear children, so, what’s left? An untamed Libido and a bunch of sexual energy dumped into the adult children, which often manifests as evil and vengeful. Why? Because the men failed to repay the women for their sacrifices, and the Spirit does not forget. What happens then? “just killeth”. A part of you dies for the Libido to die—it is the life backbone. The Indoctrinators manipulate the women to rid them of their Beauty, to domesticate them, to kill them of Libido. The men perfectly content with their Libidos, begin preying upon the Youth, the next one, who still have Libidos they crave to capture.

When we are born what’s the first thing we notice? I assume its the same as everyday when we wake up—the Sun or light in our eyes. As is know the concepts of The Sun and The Moon reveal much about our own Nature. The Sun (6), the Father, bearer of Life; the Moon (9), the Mother, bearer of Rest. Everything in between the Sun and the Moon, or anything that exists because of both, is a “partial” manifestation of both of them, which means that the creation cannot survive without both, thus is it impossible for the creation to deviate from both. The Indoctrinators teach their children to see the Father figure as the “god messenger” “The Son of the Sun” “Life Himself” and to see the Mother figures as the opposite.

To Restate— Many women possess an “innate” inclination to bear children. How can a woman crave form and force without the influence of the force from the man that should father the seeds? Ask yourselves, if a female should have an “innate” inclination to bear children, who is the male that provided the force for that mindset to form within the female’s mind, to begin with? The man bears the Force the woman bears the Form.

Ogden Nash, Reflections On Ice Breaking

As a child I was fat for many years. I was fat until I was old enough to understand the concept of consumption. Fat, meaning I consumed excessively more than I needed, without considering the appetite of others. Is that not the point of childhood? I do the same with Wine now—save the Psychologists! Give them material! Give them bread! Nonetheless, The compulsion to eat too much or too little as a child or adult spews from power and emotional struggles within the family unit. It seems to be connected to trauma (intense events) that occur between ages 9-12 (The Belly of the Great Beast awakens)(—Enter external jaw manipulation (orthodontics); sheer Chaos!). Comprehension of which is positive and the rejection of which is negative for spiritual development. Attempting to mitigate the Belly of The Great Beast often manifests different forms of physical tantrums, and these actually work in society, especially for children. Obviously, they do it because it works. It is the easiest and fastest way to manipulate the parents. Why? Because society judges a parent before it judges the child. The parent will almost always appease the child if it means preserving social image. A physical component is that the more one consumes the more one controls the others; as one gets larger the rest get smaller, vis versa. A mental/physical component is that emotional distress, or “overthinking”, burns excessive amounts of calories. One would be horrified to know how much weight can be lost simply by thinking.

Nonetheless, a fat person with an “overthinking” issue might actually consume the appropriate caloric intake to maintain their current mental/physical state. A skinny person with an “overthinking” issue might actually be consuming an appropriate caloric intake to maintain their current physical/mental state. It is normal for our physical bodies to mirror our stress. It is normal for our physical bodies to have plasticity and mirror the mind. Change is normal. The real issue arises when emotional distress or “overthinking” cause extensive immobility, so much so, that the person lacks the force to “bounce back” to their normal state. Here, one learns that to live in the extremes of being too fat or too skinny (physically, mentally, or spiritually), is to manifest a stronger force that will equalize the opposite extreme, Physical immobility, which must itself be equalized through the means of Spiritual mobility.

People spend their entire lives trapped in a physical state that they detest—the tell tale that they detest their mental states. They do not know what their True physical or mental states even are. They do not know their own potential. They do not know they are in a physical tantrum. This is novel news to them. Who will save you from this physical tantrum? Where are the atheists—are there any in this pool? By their own definition they should have better physiques. The “hang-on cult” get a pity pass on being too big or too small.

I’ve never met an adult that is obese and does not have family related stress and pressure. I’ve never met an adult that is frequently constipated (or has poor bowel movements) and does not have family related stress and pressure. I’ve never met an adult that is anorexic and does not have family related stress and pressure.

All that to say, children have the potential to be as manipulative as adults, albeit lacking fear of repercussion. Scary!

Here is an event I will never forget—A classmate died of cancer fifteen years ago. He was 12 years old and in the 6th grade. You see, contrary to what is normally true for adults, when a child is ill, has cancer, or any other condition, they are not seen as a victim by other children. In fact, the other children seem to ostracize the sick child, until, it is so isolated that the concept of death actually becomes digestible. The Truth Scrivers, the children, present the world with merciless consolation— a courtesy most adults fail to give to each other. What happens to the evolution of the soul when it is robbed of victimhood, at a moment, when they are actually a victim?

The elevator in the Chateau

There is a “malignant” scent associated with evil.

It reeks badly which means it has the potential to elicit madness and in the right hands to execute good.

If I was in a fever dream and had to depict the scent of evil it would be the sweat of a bunch of human clones. Sweat with no hair follicles. Cum with no testosterone. Acne that bleeds not when popped. A strong rubbery smell and taste that covers the tongues palate. A clown horror house. The smell of prepping and cooking raw meat without seasoning.

The scent of evil is in part combusted by lack of steam production and the lack of subsequent dissipation—environmentally, physically, and spiritually.

Physical heat production (ketogenesis) as well as integration of steam or smoke (shower steam, fire pit, incense, cigarette smoke, etc.) drastically ameliorates this “stagnant malignancy”. A cancer of sorts, which, though “malignant”, is essential for preservation. Extreme polarity needs to be addressed.

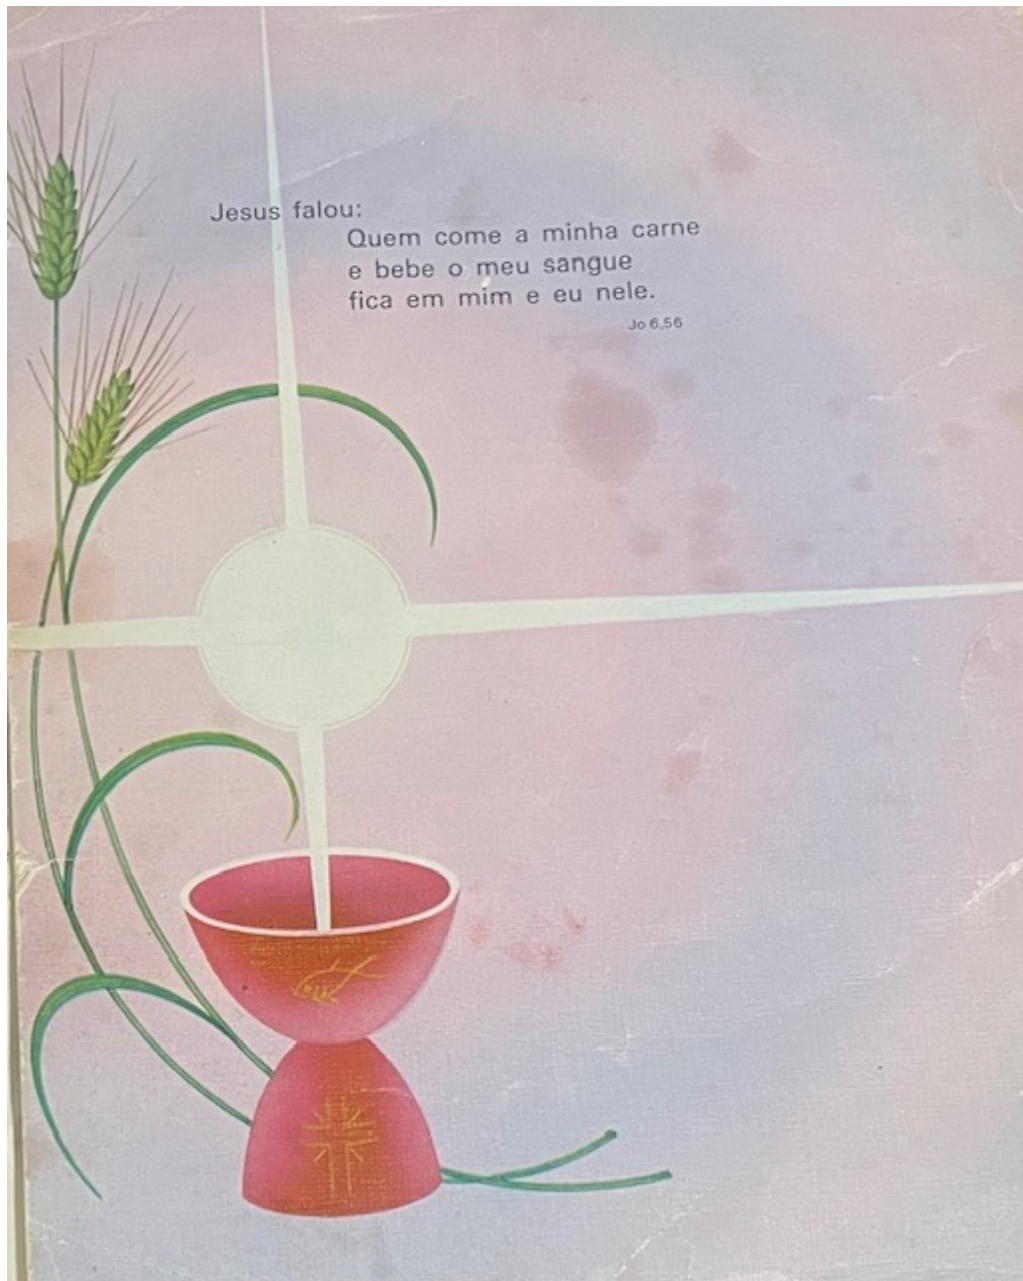

“Malignant” entities be them demonic or angel are suggestive of parasitism—When one is near one of these entities they will feel their chest “get colder” and a taste similar to freezer burn will become intense in the mouth. They are harassing your spirit through Unconscious manipulation. You will need to obtain it back. If you are under intense spiritual pressure (NOT MEDICAL ADVISE!) and find yourself with this taste in your mouth, rinsing the mouth and nose with honey (for nose—sterile honey with sterile cotton swab; can be very dangerous) will help. Chewing nicotine gum also helps clear the palate well, but internal heat ㉓ production is the true remedy.

“Malignant” beings may influence a person by increasing the inclination for artificial, processed, or frozen foods. Literally creating a craving for “freezer burn causing foods”. This in part arises from paranoia of being tricked into consuming something other than what is intended to be consumed. It is likely the case that they have at some point been manipulated to believe they were eating a weird meat type or that they actually did eat a weird type of meat. Or, because they know it is a possibility, they avoid the threat all together. Many succumb to Vegetarianism or Veganism here... although a temporary solution, long term absence of meat will affect the ability to truly enter ketogenesis. Unless an extreme state of fasting is met, the body will struggle to shed the flesh anew.

There are advantages here obviously that being preservation. Consumption becomes more important than metabolism or excretion. Since metabolism subsequently takes longer from more consumption, the excretion slows. The Order is flipped.

This is easily achieved by pushing the body towards glucose metabolism (cold; preserving). Sole ketone metabolism (heat; burning) prior or subsequent to sole glucose metabolism makes this extreme nutritional pressure manifest physically. Under glucose metabolism the body absorbs “malignant parasitism” (acne, warts, digestive issues, etc.,) which allows the body to “swallow it” and under ketone metabolism the body expels the “swallowed” “malignant parasitism”. Investigate ketogenic relevance to Dr. George Carey’s The Anti-Christ; “Christ substance”... the “sacred oil”, the “holy sweat”, etc... Ketogenesis is the catalyst to the brain byproduct Adrenochrome which is mediated by the extreme need for Adrenaline manifesting and resulting in its Metabolism— the Child of Sweat. The stereotype that witchel are always fat begins to make sense—the energy is captured stored and used, and rarely is it excreted. They therefore consume more to generate body heat in competition to “the freezer burn taste”. They also smoke and drink more to keep their body warm. Increased body fat makes people more vulnerable and less tolerant of said smoke and drink.

I had a dream that I was invoked by dream to free someone who got lured into a haunted Chateau hotel in California. It was a horribly malignant scented hotel with a possessed freak elevator. I've always disliked elevators. A few years ago, while I was living in Cambridge, I got trapped in an elevator. The elevator dropped for a few seconds then just stopped. I pulled the doors open and saw nothing but a brick wall. I was actually trapped inside. I opened the emergency call box to find piles of stuffed tissues. There were no functioning buttons in the elevator. I was relieved I had my phone with me. I called the fire department and they pulled me out of the elevator.

The Post Molt Crab Shells of Deer Island

The conception—“the idea” with no real words (usually from fear, or the absence of fear; the perceived absence of control), which stimulates a feeling that aligns within reality and therefore leaves a gap for “the idea” to consummate and to manifest in real time.

The dream—Godly face with buttocks surrounding the eyesockets. Then the eye balls turn completely white. Then the buttock eyesockets begin to purge the white eyeballs out.

He looked at me and said,

You wanted to see Me

And I said Yes

The physical—I was walking along Deer Island and saw some molted crab shells and a hollow crab claw (potentially European Green Crabs). One of the shells still had “the eyes” attached to it. I used the crab claw to lightly feel the eye remnants. The eyes look like separate snails and they just stay on until they fall out or are eaten. I recently learned that The Post Molt crabs usually consume their “previous eyes” for nourishment. The shells that no longer had eye remnants had visible blackish grey smudge marks inside—which, considering the sun exposure, is surprising.

I compartmentalize my spirit as Feminine and Masculine. The Feminine endures Pleasure and the Masculine endures Pain. And they both feel it in the extremes. That is “the secret”. It becomes physically apparent that half the “focal” is masculine (right) and half the “focal” is feminine (left). It is obvious by the eyes and eyebrows. The goal is to “blend androgynously” but it is normal for the body to mirror the spirit—so long as the spirit will mirror the body in realignment.

The concept of secrets in itself is false hope. Unendurable reality!
